NOTES OF THE WEEK.

His Excellency the Minister of Interior returned yesterday morning in the Panals from a visit to the Leper settlement on Molokni, where he had been to look into the management of that establishment. He was cratified to find every thing going on satisfactorily, and the lepers as comfortable and contented as people in their upfortunate condition could well be. His Excellency was detained on Molokai longer than he anticipated, owing to the calm weather which prewented the Paushi from making the usual

His Excellency the Governor of Oaliu, and Mrs. Dominis returned yesterday from Waialan, with a party consisting of Col. and Mrs. Pratt. M. Le Monneyer, and several other gentlemen who have been tasting the sweets of country life there for a week or two

Mr. S. B. Doux in his interesting letter on Immigration, when speaking of the ancient style of colonization, instanced the occupation of Palestine by the "Jews under Joshua, the successive occupation of Rome by the Goths and Huns," &c. We are glad to hear the writer deprecate that kind of immigration as not suited to modern civfligation. What about Lo, the poor Indian? We are of the impression modern civilization has immigrated him down to a tolerably small point, from the Northern coofines of Canada to Patagonia-and it's a immigratin' him down finer every day. But then, you know, he's a savage for whom nobody cares.

We print below an item taken from the Fresno works undertaken in order to irrigate the valleys of California, many of which, although extremely fertile, would be comparatively worthless for agriculture were it not for the facilities offered to farmers for irrigation :

The San Josquin and King's River Canal and Irrigation Company have 100 Chinamen at work, and will have more as soon as harvest is over. This canal is 9 feet deep, 11 feet banks : 142 feet in width on the top and 80 feet at the bestom; it will be 120 miles in length. The Company have surveyed and sounded Tulare take and found 700 square miles of water.

A FRIEND of ours, while walking through one of the narrow streets in town on a dark night last week, ran into a borse which was hitched on the sidewalk. He stepped on the horse's beels, but the animal being a mild and placid beast, refrained from sending our friend into "kingdom come." The horse was properly apologised to, and the matter soon settled between say that although he fully recognizes the right of anybody and everybody to hitch their horses on the sidewalk in the night, (particularly when the middle of the street is either very muddy or very dusty,) still be thinks it would be a great protection to pedestrians, and perhaps an act of bumanity when they do so on very dark nights, to have lanterns attached to their borses' tails.

Tur Military Band played on Emma Square on Saturday afternoon last, having postponed their concert from Thursday on account of the funeral day at 5 o'clock as usual. We would suggest, however, that Saturday would be a better day for forward to and spoken of as one of the pleasant They are determined to make money in their own events of the week. way; and they are delighted if any one 'proves'

THE BALL given at Wailuke, Mani, on Saturcess. Although but few of our Honolula residents attended, there were a sufficient number of the residents of Mani present to form a large party and make lively times. Everything was got up in fine style. Many here regret that owing to the fact of the close approach of quarter-day they were prevented from making the excursion and enjoying themselves. All was not, however, analloyed pleasure to those who went from here We believe that every one of them (some half dozen), during the time they were "tripping the light fantastic," had all their traveling clothes carried off by some scamps, and were consequently obliged to return in their "store clothes." We hear that the Deputy Sheriff of Maul was also a sufferer, having lost his saddle and saddle-bags. There is no doubt the good people of Wailake would like to catch the rogues who took such liberties with the property of the guests they were entertaining. THE KILAURA - During the time this vessel has been laid up she has undergone thorough repairs, particularly in her machinery, which is many respects has been considerably improved. New boxes have been made for the main shafting, new sole plate for thrust bearing and an entire new disconnecting apparatus, by means of which the engineer will be enabled to disconnect the propellor in less than three minutes, whereas by the old machinery at least half an hour was occupied in uncoupling. By the new apparatus, when it is desirable to go under sail alone, which is frequently the case on the passage from the windward, the rapidity with which it can be done will result in the saving of no inconsiderable quantity of coal, as fires were obliged to be kept up heretofore during the long process of uncoupling. Besides the above repairs and improvements other parts of the machinery have been thoroughly overhauled, one new connecting rod has been put in, new brasses made, etc. The engineers pronounce the machinery in as good con dition as it ever was, and capable of ranning for years without any further material repairs. Besides the repairs on the machinery, the vessel has been painted inside and out, and the sails repaired, The cabin has been re-painted and varnished, and new mattrasses and pillows furnished. Upon her leaving the wharf last evening she looked as trim and bright as though she had been enjoying a long rest and had grown sleek upon it.

Os Wednesday last the Mexican Andreas, the

by Deputy Marshal Dayton at the house at Ewa where he has been in the habit of stopping. He was in his room when Mr. Dayton arrived at the house (about daylight in the morning). Upon Mr. Dayton's rapping at the door he immediately opened it and when told of the charge against him gave himself up at once. Our account of the at his salesroom on Thursday. As the goods murder published last week was necessarily meagre as our paper was issued the morning afthe trade, a rare opportunity will be afforded to ter the murder and before any details of the affair had reached town. We give below a more circumstantial account as given by Mr. Dayton as the results of his investigation, and which we take from the Advertiser: The following particulars, obtained from Deputy Marshal Dayton, are substantially the facts in this tragic affair. It appears that during Tuesday, there was a cat-Quick Disparen.—The bark Queen Emma, the-drive, and that Andreas, who is noted as a which vessel arrived here on the 1st inst. with a quarrelsome an a dangerous man particularly when full curpo of assorted merchandise, was discharged drinking, got intoxicated. He had attacked a and reloaded with a full cargo of sugar by her enterprising agests, Messra. C. Brewer & Co., in down, and then to escape his drunken fury, less than five days. This is the quickest despatch mounted a horse and rode off. Meeting John we remember in the case of a sailing vessel. Meek jr., Andreas tried to attack him, but get-The Queen Emma sailed for San Francisco on ting away, Meek met Rosario on horseback and told him about Andreas, who was at a house a Raix. For a few days past copious showers short distance off. Rosario rode to the house, the benefit of vegetation. At Makawao they seem to off. Andreas then mounted the horse, and seizyards further, his head and shoulders trailing in the dust. Then dropping the body, Andreas made a circuit once or twice round the scene of the murder, and then started off in pursuit of the native with whom he had first quarreled. All this was done in plain sight of eight or ten persons, natives, who appear to have been so puralyzed with fear as to neither attempt to save Rosario or arrest his murderer. Had the latter succeeded in overtaking the native, there would doubtless have been another brutal murder to chronicle. The man however, understanding his peril, had lassoed a fresh horse on the plain, and was soon beyond pursuit. Giving up the chase, Andreas went to a house occupied by Mr. Samnel Andrews, where he has been stopping, and taking off his clothes stained with the blood of (Cal.) Expositor of August 28th. The great Rosario, bid them under the mattress, and quietly went to bed. On Friday last Andreas, before the Police Magistrate, waived examination through his counsel Messrs. Harris and Jones.

> Mr. Eprron: Reading the July British Quarterly Review's article on Marco Polo's Travels, you will find the following extract, which may or may not be pertinent to the much discussed question of " Labor and Population":

> and was duly comitted to trial in the Sapreme

" Now, one lesson borne in upon us by the changes which the world has seen since Polo's sition as the first grain growing State in the day is distract of trade as a regenerator. Here were countries full of the wealth, the comforts, all the results of trade. Here was mercantile activity over a greater area than the world has since seen. Here was the bustle, the competition, the energy which Westerns have since developed, anticipated, just as bank notes and the mariner's compass had been anticipated. And what is the result? Well, the poet of course exaggerates when he says,

'Better fifty years of Europe than a cycle of Cathay,' "man and beast;" though the man wishes us to but still be touches the blot. Stagnation, intellectual poverty, social evils greater than our own -these are what a nation has come to which gave itself up to trade.

"It is necessary to note this; for despite repeated disappointments, the believers in the gospel of trade are as unflinching as the believers in the Commune. Not five years ago Elihu Burritt was making one of his tours, giving out the old platitudes, talking of Commerce (which has frequently been a prime cause of bloodshed among civilized nations) as the grand pacifier, hiding out of Mrs. Juid, which took place on that day. The of sight such unpleasant facts as that certain regular day for the Band at Emma Square is commercial States prefer war to free trade. Nor Thursday, and they will play this week on that will the events of two years ago have cured such men, though it seems patent enough that trade and commerce, and the growth of wealth, did not these concerts, as on Thursday a large class of do much for France, and that the Germans, comthe residents of Honolulu are quable to attend. mercially, have made a very good thing of war. It would no doubt be a great pleasure to me- The fact is, people who care not a whit about the chanics and others after a week of hard labor to gospel of trade (the supposed connection, i. c., remain to the Square on Saturday afternoon and between trade and the peaceful progress of man) listen to the strains of "sweet music" for an hour. like this sort of talk just as the Jews in Ezekiel's It would soon become something to be looked days liked to have smooth things talked to them.

that their way of growing rich is conducive to day evening, September 28th, was a grand suc-, the world's good. Not that they would leave off if the reverse was made plain to them. No; if you show that their way of growing Queensland cotton or Fiji arrowroot is destroying the islanders as fast as they can be destroyed, they will talk about 'rotting mees' in the spirit of the back- and Wool. woodsman who 'improves' his Indians off the face of the earth. If you show that, besides the dying tricks of these devil's-missionaries, turned hopelessly against that Christianity which else might be their comfort in their decay, they will either warn you against listening to meddler's tales, or else with brazen hypocrisy they will assert that it is really a good thing for the poor Polynesian to be torn from his island and take to the labor field and the barrack, because there 'he will be brought in contact with civilization.' We repudiate such a miserable repetition of subterfuges, which good Bishop Las Casas in his latter days bitterly repented baving given way to."

> PLUMMER, the London correspondent of the Sydney Herald speaks as follows of the great strike of builders in London ; "Unquestionally the most important of

of the London builders, although the struggle lacks much of the intensity which characterised that of 1859. As mentioned in previous letters, the demand of the men is for a working day of nine hours at the rate of 9d. per hour. By way of commencing operations, they withdrew the men from two of the leading London establishments, the employers replying by a general lock-out. Meetings on both sides followed, the language at each being of the most determined character, and a Oct. 2-Haw schr Kamalle, Dority, for Jarvis Island, schr Keoni Ana for Kamai, and Pauahi for Molokat. protracted and severe struggle seemed imminent. In the midst of the dispute. the executive of the Labour and Capital Committee, organized by the Social Science Association, proposed that the matter should be submitted to arbitration, but the idea was at once repudiated by the men, who declared they would not be satisfied with anything short of the nine hours. But while things looked so desperate, a portion of the men, the masons, entered into negotiations with the emplayers, the result being a compromise, whereby the men agreed to work long hours in summer and short hours in winter, the whole to form an average of nine hours per day throughour the year. They also agreed to accept eightpence halfpenny per hour. The carpenters and others were furious when they heard of this, and have since held meetings at most severely condemned. The masons, however, were merely looking after their own interest. They did not like the idea of passing the summer season in enforced idleness, with the prospect of remaining equally idle during the winter, for the mason's calling can be properly practised only during a continuance of fine weather. The struggle has therefore resolved itself into a kind of triangular duel between the employers, the masons, and the car-

It is noticeable that little heed has been taken of a portion of the agreement in which the employers pledge themselves Wall Paper! to the paying of wages on Friday evenings. Were this to be carried out it would do much towards preventing the evil of late hours on Saturdays, to say nothing of the effectual blow aimed at Saturday night drinking. There has been considerable talk respecting the formation of a Cooperative Building Association, but at present nothing practical has been done, few of the men caring to take on themselves the responsibilities and cares of business. These they prefer leaving

The best friends of the workmen regard with some misgivings the indiscreet manner in which some of the men are using their power. In more than one instance, no sooner have they obtained the nine hours, than they demand eight, and so with wages. In several cases, the men, after receiving an advance of ten per cent., are demanding a further increase. The result is, as before mentioned, that everything is rising in price, to the no small discomfort of persons in the receipt of small fixed incomes; a salary of £120 now going only as far as £100 did two years ago. A continuance of this state of affairs may render possible a scheme which has often been broached and ridiculed, namely, the importation of Chinese labour. The Chinaman has made himself useful in Australia and the United State; and why not in this country. So ask some of our employers. Others talk of importing materials ready made for use, in fact so far as the carpenters and joiners employed in the building trades are concerned, they are already beginning to find competitors among their Seandinavian brethren. True, our building operatives take all this very coolly, but they forget that Norwegian joinery is already largely used in this country, and that every increase of price in the English article furnishes an additional inducement to the Scandinavian employers to gain a secure footing in the English

It seems that this country is not the only one where labor is the problem.

A Card.

I serrer in the semi-weekly P. C. A., of Oct. 3d. an article, in which it is stated that one of the Proprietors had met with a "churiish rebuff" from an Officer in charge of the Station House. The simple facts of the care were these, "that I had charge of the Station House at the time alluded to, and had received strict instructions to admit no one, which was strictly carried out. I was asked for information by Mr. Proprietor, which I was unable to furnish. On asking to be admitted as a member of the Press, he was given to understand that no one could be admitat the time, upon which the Proprietor turned away indignantly and left." It-some to me unjust for Mr. Proprietor to rush off full of ire and make groundless accusations against an officer in the discharge of his duty, because his self-vanity was piqued at the refusal to admit him when the startling requet was made " as a member of the Press." For the " Proprietor's" sake let me quote a word or two which I once heard of a certain animal "that the
